BY MRS. ANNIE H. EDWARDS.

Oh fairer to me than the riant morn,
When he cometh fresh from the kiss of dawn,
And brighter by far, than the noontide blaze,
Or the amber glow of evening's haze,
And sweeter than matin, or vesper chimes,
Are the memories of the olden times.
There is one that rises above the rest,
Of my school-girl days, 'tis the dearest,
best,
Of a lovely face on whose changing cheek
Dimples and blushes play at hide-and-seek,
Whose eyes are the color from Heaven brought,
Whose brow bears the starry gems of thought.

Together we worried o'er parlay rows,
Deep waters of "ologies" waded through,
Together we talked of the coming years,
Lig ted with a smile-beams, or clouded by tears;
But fairer far, than earth's fairest flow'rs,
Were the visions bright, of those glad-some hours.

Thou hast drained a breaker of love's red vine,
And carst not now, for such draughts as mine,
Thou hast breathed the perfume of cloud-land flow'rs,
And reposed amid elysium bowers.
Tis well, but thou mightest, have left one spot,
Where husband and home-love could enter not.

O, I had met coldness on ev'ry side,
But look'd not to find it in Lide, my Lide,
When I turn'd to her from the world's dark mart,
With a quivering lip and an aching heart,
Say, hadst thou no drop of the olden balm,
To bring to the troubled spirit calm?

But tears for departed joys are vain,
The past is past, and cannot come again.
Weary our parting was, sad our farewell,
But absence and time have broken the spell.
The love-beams that lured those bygone days,
Are hid in oblivion's dusky haze,
The ties of affection, are severed in twain,
And friendship has loosened her sister chain.

Impeachment of the President--
Speech of Hon. T. L. Jones, of Kentucky, in Congress, on Feb. 24, 1868.

CONCLUDED.

In this act he was supported by the opinion of every member of his Cabinet, and no one of them expressed his abhorrence of the bill with so much emphasis as this now valiant knight of the War office, Edwin M. Stanton. Indeed, such was the ability with which he descended upon its odious provisions that the President desired him to prepare his veto, which only press of business denied him that pleasure. The bill however, becomes a law, at least so we will consider it for the purposes of the argument, and we are now told that the President has violated it, and in doing which he has been guilty of high crimes and misdemeanors, sufficient to warrant his impeachment and removal from office. His accusers base the entire charge of this violation upon a single provision of the bill; it is this:

"Be it enacted, &c., That any person holding any civil office to which he has been appointed by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and every person who shall hereafter be appointed to any such office, and shall become duly qualified to act therein, is and shall be entitled to hold such office until a successor shall have been in like manner appointed and duly qualified except as herein otherwise provided:

Provided, That the Secretaries of State, of the Treasury, of War, of the Navy and of the Interior, the Postmaster General and the Attorney General, shall hold their offices respectively for and during the term of the President by whom they may have been appointed, and for one month thereafter, subject to removal by and with the advice and consent of the Senate."

Who can doubt that here is a provision and exception that the Secretaries of State, of the Treasury, of War, of the Navy, of the Interior, the Postmaster General, and the Attorney General, are not included within the scope and meaning of this bill, but are in its spirit and letter expressly exempted? And such was the expressed opinion of the author and the supporters of the bill at the time of its passage in the Senate. They were to hold their offices respectively for and during the term of the President by whom they were appointed and for one month thereafter. It only remains, then, to determine by whom and for whose term the Secretary of War, Edwin M. Stanton, was appointed. Who denies that he was appointed by Abraham Lincoln, and therefore could only hold his office for Lincoln's term and one month thereafter, except by the re-appointment or mere sufferance of President Johnson? Could language be plainer, could fact be more patent? He bears no commission from Johnson, and has only retained the place of Secretary of War through the too patient endurance of that President.

But to spin out sophistry refined, it is claimed by some that Lincoln's term has not expired, and we must therefore tolerate the official life of the dignitary Stanton, if indeed he naturally abides for four years and one month thereafter. Is Lincoln dead, or does he still live? Can dead men hold office and administer human affairs? Had we not a Tyler administration, and a Fillmore administration; and is not this the administration of Andrew Johnson, who succeeded to the Presidency as they did? To assume that this is the term of Lincoln is to reject the laws of nature and to belie the evidence of our own senses. The term of the office and the term of the officer are very different things; the one is fixed by law, the other depends upon the life, the removal, or resignation of the officer. The provision in the bill did not refer to the term of the office, but to "the term of the President," the officer who then held it.

This strained construction is but another manifestation of radical frenzy and desperation. President Johnson, then, in the attempt to remove Mr. Stanton, has in no manner violated this law in its strict letter and bearing; but if he had, what more can be made of it than that in the exercise of a high prerogative he had chosen to act in accordance with previous laws of Congress, which had been confirmed by the Supreme Court, rather than of this which he vetoed, and the constitutionality of which had not been passed upon? Had he not the right, too, to test a law the validity of which he and his cabinet and the most learned of the land had at least doubted? This right inures to the humblest citizen of the Republic. In the attempt to displace Mr. Stanton, and to install Gen. Lorenzo Thomas, do not all the attending circumstances go to show that the President simply intended to present the question for judicial investigation and settlement? Some on the other side of the House have said, with apparent soberness and even awful gesture, that it was the intention of the President to use the army to over-ride the laws and strike down the liberties of the people. Did he send General Thomas to the War Office with an army at his back, or even the smallest squad of soldiers? Not an individual accompanied him; he went solitary and alone. It was purely an unostentatious, quiet, civil proceeding, by which, under proper forms of law, to elicit the judgement of the highest court of the Government upon this much-vexed question. Why could not Congress have allowed this to be done? Was it not necessary for a proper discharge of the duties of the Executive and for the peace and harmony of the country? To deprive the act of all criminal intent or the slightest disposition to disobey even this law the President being thwarted in his effort with General Thomas, soon sends into the Senate the name of Thomas Ewing as Secretary of War.

This would seem to be the whole case in its legal aspect. What right has been infringed, what liberty destroyed, what law violated by the President?

But there is a section of this tenure-of-office bill upon which the President is to be impeached, that bears in the right way. Section five provides—

"That if any person shall, contrary to the provisions of this act, accept any appointment to, or employment in any office, or shall hold or exercise, or attempt to hold or exercise, any such office or employment, he shall be deemed, and is hereby declared, to be guilty of a high misdemeanor, and upon trial and conviction thereof he shall be punished therefor by a fine not exceeding $10,000, or by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or both said punishments in the discretion of the court."

Now, do not the facts and circumstances of this case show, and has it not been proven, that Mr. Stanton himself "attempts to hold or exercise the office of Secretary of War "contrary to the provisions of this act" and without the shadow of authority, and would it not be a righteous judgment that he should suffer the penalties here prescribed and be required for this as well as other and even graver crimes to look out for long years from the loathsome dungeons of the Dry Tortugas?

Was it not the President's duty to remove him? How could he take care that the laws be faithfully executed unless there was harmony of sentiment in all the Executive Departments, and especially between him and those who are so near to him—the heads of Departments? They are the members of his official family, with whom there ought to be free and daily intercourse and among whom there must be concurrence of opinion in order promptly and properly to execute the laws. Mr. Stanton had differed essentially with the President, had openly opposed his policy, and had become obnoxious, odious, politically and personally, to him and his cabinet. He might have often exclaimed to him, in the language of the indignant Cicero, pointing to the conspirators of his country's liberties:

"Quousque tandem abutere, Catalina, patientia nostra?"

How long, indeed, has he abused their patience?

After much tolerance he was politely invited to retire, but invitation and hints amounting to insult to a proud man, having no effect, he was finally ejected and the head of the army placed in his stead "ad interim." This "silent monitor" for a time with seeming fidelity discharged the duties of the office, but at length, in an hour when we thought not, betraying the confidence of his chief, suddenly evacuates and lets in this scorned and cast-out official, with the Senate at his heels. Did ever audacity mount higher? Was ever Executive so outraged both as to personal and official dignity?

The President, with that caution and calmness characteristic of the man, for a time bears this monstrous encroachment; but who thought that he would long submit to it? Who doubted that he would persevere in the exercise of his prerogatives, and that he would again attempt to remove this detestable obstacle to the execution of the laws. General Thomas is dispatched to take charge of the office, and this creeping, cringing thing, this "Caliban of the Tempest," obsequiously submits, and only asks time to gather up his effects. The General with the courtesy of a soldier, grants his request and retires. After a reasonable time he returns, but only to find this brazen interloper surrounded by soldiers and on a throne as it were, of bristling bayonets.

Such, sir, is the spectacle now presented in this capital of a great country, famed for the supremacy of the civil over the military authority, for proper subordination in its several departments, and for a just and wise administration of the laws. Is the reputation or the life of Edwin M. Stanton worth so much that the blood of the nation should stand still and the whole system be endangered even for a moment in this controversy.

But, sir, the fiat has gone forth; right or wrong, wicked or worldly, the President is to be impeached. He is abused, stigmatized, anathematized without measure, but he reckes not of the slanderous missiles that are hurled at his head. He sits calm and wise as Ulysses in the Grecian tent. The people will, I trust, and posterity, I am sure, will, vindicate his acts. His highest eulogy has been pronounced by himself when in maintaining the act complained of, he said: "If I had been fully advised that in thus defending the trust committed to my hand my own removal was sure to follow I could not have hesitated, actuated by public considerations of the highest character." This sentence will go down the ages to come. I know, sir, how vain are my words and all our efforts, our appeals, protestations, and votes. Party supremacy must be maintained at all hazards; the revolution must go on and bear down in its sweep all obstacles to its accomplishment. There has been a Spanish inquisition; there has been a French revolution, and it might not be amiss if some would bring to memory the fate of a Danton, a Robespierre, and a Marat.

I might remind gentlemen of their solemn obligations on this occasion as conservators of the peace, the laws, and liberty of the country. But what are constitutions and laws and oaths when the fires of revolution are still blazing and its wheels fast rolling on?

I commend to these swift accusers the significant prophecy of Gouverneur Morris, who put into shape and penned this Constitution of ours; and I bid them beware that they do not now signally verify it:

"But, after all, what does it signify that men should have a written Constitution containing unequivocal provisions and limitations? The legislative lion will not be entangled in the meshes of a logical net. The legislature will always make the power which it wishes to exercise. Attempt to restrain it by other means will only render it more outrageous. The idea of binding legislators by oaths is puerile. Having sworn to exercise the powers granted according to their true intent and meaning, they will, when they feel a desire to go further, avoid the shame if not the guilt or perjury by swearing the true intent and meaning to be, according to their comprehension, that which suits their purpose."

Sir, gentlemen tell us that we may not even warn them of their evil deeds or of the popular wrath to come. They avow that valiant men will sustain their action if necessary on the battle-field; each equal to two or three of any who may oppose them. Vain threats! fanatical delusions!

I do warn them, sir, that the spirit of liberty may still lurk in the bosoms of the sturdy yeomanry of this land, and if provoked too far a million of men will spring to arms to defend their rights and to ward off a merciless despotism. I might here, without arrogance, speak for a hundred thousand riflemen of Kentucky, who would be united as one man in the contest, equal in courage, strength and skill to the best the world has produced. I admonish gentlemen that they may not much longer enjoy the luxury of this Belshazzar feast. The hand-writing may already be faintly seen upon the wall; they have been weighed in the balance and found wanting. Sir, the people of this great country, if they are not dead to shame and dishonor, if they have a speck of the valor of their revolutionary sires, will not submit to these accumulated wrongs and outrages; no; rather they will rise up in the full magnitude and majesty of their power, and come if need be, like avalanches from the mountains, like hurricanes from the valleys, like the swelling waters of mighty rivers, like the surges of the lakes and the billows of the sea, even to this Capitol, batter down these doors, drive out these servants who have so misused their authority, purge and cleanse these halls, possess that tribune and altar, and place in these seats true and faithful sentinels, who, they and their successors, shall guard forever the rich heritage which their fathers have bequeathed to them.

THE CYNTHIANA NEWS

CYNTHIANA, KY.
THURSDAY, April 9, 1868.
A. J. MOREY, EDITOR.
FOR GOVERNOR
J. W. Stevenson,
OF KENTON.

The editor of the Danville Advocate, a few weeks ago, took occasion to rebuke, in rather severe terms, several editors who have had the hardihood to justify the repudiation of greenback bonds. This Advocate man, judging from his newspaper twaddle, was doubtless a disciple of Josh Bell's in 1861, and voted with him for coercion, and for men and for all the money that the Yankees needed to burn, destroy and desolate our country, and he remained with them, doubtless, until they took the nigger in bed with them, when he found that the scent was too strong. He voted to impose the debt upon the people, but a majority of the people did not vote that way, and they will repudiate this great debt, but it would be wrong for those who went for "men and money" in 1861 to go for repudiation in 1868, and a still greater wrong to make the people responsible for such revolutionary voters as the "Advocate man," and his radical friends.

We don't blame the few people who voted with those old lunatics, Crittenden and Davis, and for coercion in 1861. We only think that most of them should be sent to that institution, in this State, established for the "feeble-minded"—and if not sent there, the county courts should appoint guardians for their benefit, that the "few things" in the shape of an estate which their fathers left them should be saved to them for their children's children.

They voted for "men and money," that the federals might make war upon them, and their children, and upon all their friends and relatives—that a great debt might be saddled upon the country, and that niggerism might be vindicated.

They voted for money, with the radicals, to buy ammunition to shoot and kill their neighbors—and to repudiate the debt would be a species of faithlessness unheard of.

No, if we had voted for "men and money" to kill our people and desolate our country, we would never have repudiated, nor gone back on any of our votes, and we advise the "Advocate man" to adhere to those bond holders, and pay them off in gold. But we hope he won't ask other people to pay debts of his contracting. The people will repudiate all such debts, for they feel satisfied that they owe not the money. The people have been imprisoned, slandered, betrayed and murdered by a squad of rascals, in the United States, who call themselves the government; and they have by every kind of persecution attempted to force the people to yield a loyalty to them, and to the government, the reins of which they held in their hands, unconstitutionally, but they have failed. No man can be loyal to the government of the United States, with the constitution, as written by our fore-father as a guide, and quietly give in his adhesion to radicalism. The debt was unconstitutionally made, and the people will never pay it. Let those who desire it paid, learn to be loyal to the people, then: debts of such magnitude will not be made.

We are opposed to the payment of this debt, because it was made by Radicals, and was "conceived in sin and brought forth in iniquity"—and as we have never voted for any man or men who favored making a war upon their own people, we go for repudiation of this debt, and hope to be able to see it repudiated, together with all the acts of the radical, free-nigger society throughout Christendom.

The Democratic party of the North, whipped the South out of the Union with the bullet. Now, they are anxious that the South should be restored, so that she will give the Democratic party her ballot. Return cards for bullets; good for evil. Good people they, that will do that.

The President asked for ten days longer to prepare for his trial. The impeachment committee treated his petition as the President did Miss Sarraff, when she asked for clemency in behalf of her mother; with silent contempt. Long road that has no turn.

Connecticut ELECTION.

DEMOCRATIC VICTORY.

GOV. ENGLISH ELECTED

2,000 Majority.

Ninety-one cities and towns give English (Dem.) 18,025; Jewell, (Rep.) 15,821. Democratic gain about 1,000. We claim the election of English by 2,000 majority.

The Louisville Courier comes to us very jubilant over the sweeping Democratic victory in that city.

The Courier says: "Yesterday's work effectually disposes of the bolters and those disaffected gentlemen who hoped to destroy the party. They will not be any special trouble to the Democracy hereafter."

In Cincinnati and throughout Ohio, we find that the Democracy have been triumphant.

The Republican party are very fearful that they will never gain the ascendancy in this State, unless the negro is allowed a vote. They are right, for such bills as they present never will be popular here, only with black men.

The latest news from Washington indicates that the Union will be restored as soon as the constitution is destroyed.

ARKANSAS.

Memphis, April 4th 1868.

The Avalanche's Little Rock special to-day says: a heavy majority has been returned from Pulaski and Jefferson counties, which will make the result of the election doubtful to both parties claiming it. General Gillman's proclamation announcing the result, alone can decide it. In the election of the new Legislature, not two thousand whites voted. There is one negro in the Senate and five in the House.

The Superintendent of Public Buildings refused to give up the keys of the capital, which was entered at night and the doors thrown open. The House ordered the arrest of the Superintendent, which had not been effected, though he is daily on the street.

The House ratified the fourteenth article of the constitution yesterday, but the Senate refused because no official proclamation had been made of the result of the election.

In response to the telegrams from the Senate officials, General Gillman says he has no authority to prevent the peaceful assemblage of the Legislature and the occupancy of the capital by it.

A negro prophecy—"Dis war am waged for dis-union."

SERGEANT BATES, carrying the United States flag, arrived at Raleigh, N. C., Wednesday morning. He was received by the Mayor and commoners, and was tendered the hospitality of the city. He was repeatedly cheered, and C. M. Rusted, an ex-Confederate soldier, delivered a short address of welcome.

No Health Without Vigor.

The wear and tear of life tells upon us all more or less. What are we but machines? The vital principle is the motive power that keeps the human engine motion; but as beams, pistons, connection pipes, condensors and boiler wear out, so do organs, muscles, tissues and all the compound parts of that marvelous piece of work called man.

The mechanism of the body requires to be repaired and strengthened just as much as the mechanism employed to grind corn or spin cotton, or weave cloth. Steam cannot drive a broken shaft, or impel a drum or a wheel that is out of gear; neither can the vital force act through a paralyzed limb, or an inert organ.

Are you wearing out? Do you feel that any of your organs—your stomach, liver, bowels, nervous system, or any other essential part of your organization, falters in its work? If so, repair the damage with the most powerful, yet harmless, invigorant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Remember that debility is the "beginning of the end"—that the climax of all weakness is a universal paralysis of the system, and that such paralysis is the immediate precursor of death.

Don't wait for disease to commit its ravages before you commence the strengthening process. Keep the whole body in a vigorous condition by preventing, as far as possible, the inroads of decay. Repair the waste of nature with nature's best tonic Hostetter's Bitters.

VALUABLE CITY PROPERTY,

One of the Best Hotel Stands

in Kentucky,

FOR SALE.

IT WILL BE REMEMBERED that last summer I advertised my Hotel for sale. It was then, and still believed by many, that I would not sell it, even if I was offered my price for it. Such is not the fact. I have determined to quit the hotel business and move to the country. I will on the 11th Day of May next,

(It being County-Court Day,) offer for sale to the highest bidder, my HOTEL, and all of the Furniture, and fixtures belonging to it, if not sold privately before.

It would be unnecessary for me to say anything in reference to the reputation of the house, as it is well known to be one of the best hotels in the interior of Kentucky, with a much larger run of custom, both transient and boarders than any house ever kept in Cynthiana. The house is capable of accommodating 200 persons, and all in good repair. The house is entirely new and built of the best material, upon the best foundation of any house in the county, with cellars 8 feet deep under the entire building. There is upon the premises a well of never-failing water, and a cistern that holds 600 barrels of water also, the largest one-house in the county full of ice. There is also an elegant barbe-shop in the basement. The lot upon which the hotel stands is about 110 feet front by 268 feet deep. I will also at the same time and place sell one lot on Pike street 24 feet front by 104 feet deep, adjoining the lot upon which Judge Curry is preparing to erect a beautiful residence. Also, the following described lots, viz:

4 lots on Pike street 23 feet front by 104 feet deep.

1 lot on Pike street 25 feet front by 104 feet deep.

1 lot on Pike street 30 feet front by 104 feet deep.

Also 1 lot on Walnut street 52 feet front by 91 feet deep with comfortable brick and frame residence with 4 rooms. This will make a desirable home for a small family. Also one lot adjoining the above, 52 feet front by 91 feet deep this lot has no improvements upon it except a small stable.

I would say for the benefit of the purchaser of this Hotel, that the receipts of the house for one year will pay over 25 per cent. more than I am willing to take for the hotel and all the fixtures.

Those who wish to purchase, can call and examine the premises, and I will take great pleasure in waiting on them.

TERMS OF SALE.

For the Hotel, 1/2 of the purchase money will be required in hand, the balance in two annual payments thereafter, bearing interest of 6 per cent. from date. The purchaser will be required to keep an insurance of $500.00 on the house and furniture until the second payment is made; after the second payment he will be required to keep $5,000 insurance until the third and last payment is made.

The lots Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 on Pike street will be sold for one half in cash, and the balance in six months.

The 2 lots on Walnut street will be sold for cash in hand.

Possession will be given immediately, and a general warranty deed to all the above property, reserving a lien until all the purchase money is paid.

The experience of over 100 years in the cultivation and preservation of the hair, is now embodied in this widely known preparation. For dressing, curling and preserving the hair, it has no equal in the world. Three or four applications will stop the hair from falling out, and it used occasionally, it will prevent hair losing its original color during a life time. No preparation equals it for restoring the hair quickly; and no preparation has been more exclusively endorsed by the medical faculty for its perfect beneficence as regards injury to the hair or head and for its tonic effects upon the system. Price, large bottles $1. Druggists, dealers in fancy goods and storekeepers generally liberally dealt with. Retail in all parts of the United States, Canada, &c. Address

Capt. P. O. Sullivan will build a brick house on Pike street this summer.

Mr. D. C. Lockridge, of this city, purchased from Mr. Conner, 100 barrels of good whisky.

Mrs. M. K. Thomas, sold her house and lot in Leesburg last week, to Mr. Thomas Hart, for $2,500.

Mrs. P. Hill has purchased the residence of Mr. Bruce, for which she paid seventeen hundred dollars.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of L. Straus, to be found in another column.

Our friend of the "faithful," Col. M. Webster, called on us last week. He is handling horses, in which, we understand he is very successful.

We regret to learn that our fellow citizen, I. N. Lair, has removed to Covington. We wish him success in his new situation.

Mr. Jno. Hogg has recently moved into his new house on that new street which it is expected will soon be opened.

Squire Barrett, of this city, is building a very respectable cottage near Mr. Hogg's. He will occupy the new mansion very soon.

Messrs. Cason and Kimbrough are now in New York City purchasing their spring stock of dry goods, &c., for the coming season.

On last Monday evening, a young man named Henry Crane had a difficulty with a man named Robt. Morrow, in which the latter was severely cut in the face with a knife.

T. R. Rankin has had several bidders for his hotel, all of whom are anxious for the house. Bob says the longest pole knocks the persimmons, court-day.

On last Monday, a young son of Mr. Frank Witmot, of Hutchison's Station, had his leg broken by a mule, and had it readily set by Dr. Jno. Talbott, one of the faithful.

Jas. L. Griffith has purchased from M. L. Broadwell, a lot on Pike street, on which he intends to erect immediately, one three story brick business house.

A little son of Mr. Wesley Warnock, of this county was poisoned about one week since with muriatic acid and tin, which he accidentally drank. We are pleased to learn that he will recover.

Tuesday last was a wet and boisterous day. Snow, rain and wind were triumphant, and the soft summer breezes from the South, contemptuously sneered at, in a rather black republican free-nigger style.

Reickle & Roush will open a very large and fashionable jewelry store, in this city, in the room formerly occupied by the Post-office. Everything of a character connected with this business, will be found at this store. They will open on the 20th inst.

The Post-office was removed last evening to the South basement of the Commercial bank building, on Main street. We understand that it is an excellent location, and splendidly arranged.

The Rev. R. A. Holland will deliver his lecture on Jerusalem, at the Methodist church, in Cynthiana, on the 1st Monday night in May, instead of the 2nd inst., as before announced.

Next Saturday, Mrs. M. K. Thomas will offer for sale, all the dry-goods which she has in store at Leesburg. The sale will commence at ten o'clock and everything will be sold.

CONFEDERATE SOLDIERS are requested to meet at the Court-house next Monday at 11 o'clock, to make arrangements to receive the remains of Gen. Morgan, which will pass through this city for Lexington, on Thursday April 16.

Mules are selling in Nashville, Tenn., at fair prices, from $120 to $175. The advance in cotton has stimulated the mule trade considerably, and the traders who have held on to their stock during the critical hour, will now realize handsome profits.

We are pleased to learn that our young friend, Dan Ridgely, has accepted a position in the grocery house of I. T. Martin, in this city. His excellent qualities of mind admirably fit him for that or any other position he may aspire.

On last Saturday the people of this city elected their Mayor and Council. They re-elected Geo. Lemmon mayor; and W. J. Grinan, C. B. Cook, A. J. Beale, Wm. Turley, Jno. T. Hogg, D. Boggs, R. C. Wherrett and W. L. Northcutt, council men.

Mr. C. G. Land is disposing of his dry goods at greatly reduced prices. In fact he will sell his calico and ladies dress patterns to suit purchasers. His gents' furnishing goods he offers very low.

We are pleased to notice that our young friend J. Lawrence Dickerson has taken a position as salesman, in the large and fashionable Dry-goods House of C. W. DeLand, opposite Pike's Hall, 74 and 76, West Fourth street Cincinnati, Ohio, where his friends will please call and see him.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR A YOUNG MAN.—Desiring to make a change in their business, Messrs. Rhorer Bros. will offer to a young man of steady habits, an opportunity to gain a practical knowledge of the art of Photography, and an interest in their business at once. The vocation is a pleasant as well as profitable one, and young men who are looking about for an opening had better drop in and see them.

NOTICE.—A punctual man is rarely a very poor man, and never a man of doubtful credit. His small accounts are frequently settled, and he never meets with difficulty in raising money to pay large demands. Small debts neglected ruin credit; and when a man has lost that, he will find himself at the bottom of a hill he cannot ascend.

Now, gentlemen, please come forward, and settle your small accounts, with yours, C. T. DEDLING.

Our worthy county Judge, recently refused to grant a tavern license to the people in Tricum, because of their too free and unbridled use of whisky. One morning shortly after the license was refused, some heartless wretch hung black crape on all the doors and trees in that good place. The absence of whisky from the town had given it such quietness and serenity that the neighbors were under the impression that some deaths had occurred there, or that the town had been abandoned. Let us advise our friends in Tricum to build a church, and begin to think of that other and better world, for "His religion that can give Sweetest pleasures while we live, 'Tis religion will supply All you need when death draws nigh."

A Card.

In the last week's News I noticed a card of Mr. H. C. Magee's, giving his statement of his assault on me at Falmouth, and that he can prove it to be true, and that my friends and myself have lied, and asking me to call upon him for the proof. Therefore I will do so at the next term of the court, so that the community may hear his proof in the case. Also that I have lied in regard to a hog trade, and that he can prove it by Jim Nute Frazer and Wash Cragmyle; and I now call on him to do so; if I have lied, I want the community to know it, if not, I wish to be clear of the charge. Therefore, in justice to myself and that the community may know the facts in the case, I hope Messrs. Cragmyle and Frazer will give a full statement of the facts in the case, in next week's News.

T. V. ASHBROOK.

Our old friend A. H. Varney, formerly landlord of the "Varney House," in this city, long years ago, called on us last Tuesday, in company with O. D. McManama, Esq., of Grant. Long may they wave.

The fish-mongers hereabouts are at tempting a rather rough thing on Cynthiana. Every street is a fish-market, and dealers are as plentiful as black-birds in Virginia. They propose to make a "Billingsgate" of the town, but we protest against the move.

Parents in this city should see to it, that their children attend Sabbath-school. No excuse should keep them at home. Young men and young ladies should encourage such places. Let us all go to Sabbath-school, and as soon as the grass becomes green and the weather suitable, we must have a Sabbath-school union celebration and picnic. Who is for it?

Ambrose Bramblett was arrested on the farm of Mr. Sandusky, near Millersburg, on Friday last, by constable Barress, for stealing a horse and a mule from Morton Levi, near Connersville, in this county, and brought to Cynthiana, on Saturday, and taken before Judge Curry, where he gave bail to appear last Tuesday, in the sum of three hundred and fifty dollars. He has failed to make his appearance, and his bail is forfeited. Mr. Sandusky went his bail.

The President of the Cynthiana and Carlisle turnpike company has sent to T. R. Rankin, of this city, a diagram of his road, for the inspection of our citizens; and we feel that they should begin to think of the advantages that will accrue to us, on its completion. This road will put us in direct communication with Carlisle, as soon as one mile and three-quarters of it can be finished from Hooktown to Steel's Run, and it will take just one thousand five hundred dollars to make it fit for use. Will the people of Cynthiana subscribe or assist this company to finish their work? We hope they will. Go and see the diagram, and do something to get up a stir among the sons of men—make yourselves and your town triumphant, or be forever fallen.

THE WORKING MAN.—The activity and lively appearance of affairs in Cynthiana, at this time is very encouraging to every man who desires to see the "City of Maidens" prosperous and thrifty. We are indebted to the working white men for this display of energy and busy strife. It took the courage and enterprise of the laboring white man, to venture into the Western wilds, when he was compelled to plow with one hand, while carrying his trusty rifle in the other for his protection. His conscience is void of offense, and for independence he relies upon his own strong arm. This country is fast filling up with the laboring white man and we have not half as many as we need. We want that class however, that are in favor of their own race, and are not seeking to advance the African. The honest white laborer is the noblest work of God—

"God bless the noble working man,
Whose hands and arms are brown with toil
Who backed by no ancestral ties,
Hew down the wood and till the soil;
God bless him for his noble sweat,
Is better than diamonds in a coronet."
